Queen Annes Lace

CAPO2

```
   D                                    G                    D
With every golden curl in place she's as fine as Queen Anne's lace
And know one could ever fault the way she looks tonight
          D                             G                    D
The man standing by her side shows her off with such eager pride
                        A               D
Seems since I saw her last she's done all right
D                                       G                    D
She could never place me in her mind for me the years have not been kind
D                                       A
She'd never see the boy she knew in the man I've grown to be
        D                               G              D
From her station and her place she'd never recognize my face
                                  A             D
I have fallen like a wind blown leaf from her memory

                G                       D
For she's traded all her pain for bright lights and chilled champayne
  D                                     A
And I'm sure her new found friends all think they know just where she's been
              D                         G            D
Yes they think they know here well all the stories I could tell
                                  A             D
She's as fine as Queen Anne's lace but I knew her when

                                        G              D
Now it's hard to believe I know but she once loved me long ago
                                      A
And I 'spose I should be hurtin' just to see her once again
          D                           G            D
Oh but now she's grown so proud I wouldn't want her anyhow
                                    A                D
She's as fine as Queen Anne's lace but I knew her when

                G                       D
For she's traded all her pain for bright lights and chilled champayne
D                                       A
And I'm sure her new found friends all think they know just where she's been
              D                         G            D
Yes they think they know here well all the stories I could tell
                                  A             D
She's as fine as Queen Anne's lace but I knew her when
