GOD'S COLORING BOOK

Capo II
G D                           C                   G
Today as I was walking, In a field just down the way
  D                             C             G
I sat down on a fallin log, To pass the time away
                              C
And as I looked around me, The more I did look
           G                              D              G
The more I realized That I was viewing God's coloring book

I saw a golden ray of sun lite, A silver drop of dew
Some white floating clouds, Over a sky of Blue
A yellow dandelion, A pretty evergreen, Some red and orange flowers growing wild along a stream

Chorus
    G                                  C
And the more I looked around me, The more I did look,
               G                      D              G
The more I did realize, I am viewing God's coloring book

        (Inst)

Grayness in an old man's hair, The pink in baby's cheek
Blackness in a stormy sky, The brown in fallin leaves
And the multi-colored rainbows, Stretched out across the sky
And the purple haze of sunset, Just before the night

        Chorus

(Spoken) Then I turned my face toward the sky and say a silent prayer.
And though God doesn't speak to me I see him everywhere
He is all around me, He is every where I look, And
Each day is but a new page in God's coloring book

He is all around me, He is every where I look, And
Each day is but a new page, in Gods coloring book.
