Songs of gladness never sadness

Songs of gladnessnever sadness
Sing the ransomed ones of heaven;
Anthems swelling, ever telling
Of the joy of souls forgiv'n

Sweetest music ever swelling
Through the courts of heav'n above;
Ever singing, ever saying,
"God is Life, and God is Love!"

Ever sunshine, never shadow,
Calm, mild, clear celestial day;
Ever summer in its brightness,
Never winter or decay.

Sweetest music ever swelling
Through the courts of heav'n above;
Ever singing, ever saying,
"God is Life, and God is Love!"

Ever gazing, loving, praising,
With the angel hosts above;
One eternal "Hallelujah!"
One eternal song of love.

Sweetest music ever swelling
Through the courts of heav'n above;
Ever singing, ever saying,
"God is Life, and God is Love!"

Never sighing, never sinning;
No distrust, nor doubt, nor fears;
Through the long unending ages,
Through the long eternal years.

Sweetest music ever swelling
Through the courts of heav'n above;
Ever singing, ever saying,
"God is Life, and God is Love!"
